Election of Col. Kinney to be Governor of San Juan.

Prospects and Condition of the Expedition.

COL. KINNEY'S INAUGURAL.

WALKER VICTORIOUS.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

SAN JUAN DEL NORTE, Sept. 15, 1855.

The recent election of Colonel H. L. KINNEY as Governor of this place, will again call public attention in the United States to his movements. Since he has been among us he has acquired a wonderful popularity, by conducting himself modestly and preserving perfect order and decorum among his men. I was at the Astor House in New-York in May last, and a gentleman at the breakfast table one morning was talking with a friend about the Kinney Expedition. He said that the Nicaragua Transit Company had, at great expense, mounted a 18-pounder on the fort at Castillo Rapids. Another gentleman at table, evidently from the South, looked towards a lady at his side, and observed, in a quiet tone of voice, "KINNEY'll have that gun." Now, that gentleman, whoever he was, had got KINNEY'S measure correctly. He had probably known him in Texas, and had seen his indomitable perseverance there, and felt that there was no such word as fail in his dictionary.

It was evident before the Colonel had been among us a week that he was the man to take the lead in affairs here. Some opposed him, thinking that as he was at loggerheads with the United States their Greytown claims might suffer, if they endorsed him here. But they soon saw that he was no dillibuster—and then they began to hint darkly to one another their ideas, and then to talk openly in the streets, till, finally, the infection spread to such an extent that a public meeting of the citizens was called, and the Colonel was elected Governor by acclamation.

So far all went well. A few days after the inauguration of Governor KINNEY, as soon as the Government was organized, notice was served upon the British and American Consuls. The acting Consul, Mr. MASON, (Mr. FARRAS, you know, on account of his association with Col. KINNEY, was not permitted by the United States to resume his functions here,) promptly recognized the new Government. I have not seen his letter, but I understand that it was quite satisfactory to the Governor. But the British Consul, after a consultation with a British man-of-war captain, in port, and the late Mayor, MARTIN, did not see fit to recognize, on the ground that the new organization interfered with the territorial rights of the King of Mosquito, and was a violation of the Bulwer-and-Clayton treaty! It is worthy of notice that half the officers in the Government are British subjects. After Great Britain had established this place as an independent municipality, and had declared it fully able to manage its own affairs; after, too, the communication made to Mr. EVERETT by the British Minister at Washington in 1852, as described in his speech in the Senate on the 21st of March of that year, that "the Government of Her Britannic Majesty were agreed to almost anything. They were willing to acknowledge—in fact had acknowledged this independent government which had been set up in San Juan; they were willing to go there with the United States, and treat with the municipal authorities of San Juan, conceding to them the effective government of the country; they were willing they should continue to govern it, American citizens though they were; they might continue to govern under the name of the Mosquito King, or they might be themselves the executive sovereigns of the country,"—after such acts and professions, it certainly seems a little unaccountable that John Bull should begin to show his stubbornness, when it defeats what are really his own ends.

The truth is, England sees that great things are to be accomplished down here, and would like to hold on to this coast a little longer. I have no idea, however, that she will interfere to prevent Governor KINNEY from colonizing his own lands, but I think she would like much to have it done under the august shadow of His Majesty the Mosquito King—the faithful ally of Her Majesty the British Queen.

The Kinney Expedition has succeeded. They have built houses, cut roads, planted land, established a school, a church and a free library. They have brought out a newspaper, the Central American, a copy of which you will receive by this vessel. This has been done by amateurs; there not being a single practical printer in the party. They are an industrious, sober set of fellows, as a class. The ridiculous stories told by WHITE and MARCOLETA in the States about a military invasion have only served to give the expedition a lift.

As for quarreling with the Transit Company, they are all first rate friends. There will be no more bombardments here—for there is too much good nature and good sense on both sides of the river—and you may be sure that so far as we are concerned you will hear of no more quarrels among Americans abroad. Let John Bull puff and blow; if we work together we shall go ahead all the faster for his windy protests. I am here "takin' notes," and will send a few along occasionally to be "prented." CHIEL.

P. S.—Mr. FARRAS leaves to-day for Granada, charged by Governor KINNEY with a special mission to the Nicaragua Government, which is done by invitation of Nicaragua. This don't look much like "pursuing KINNEY and FARRAS to death," does it? Mr. FARRAS will be accompanied by WILLIAM S. TRAVER, Esq., Chief Secretary of the Government, and EZEKIEL F. MASON, Esq., Acting American Consul at this place.

Inaugural Proclamation of Gov. Kinney.

We have received the first number of the Central American, Governor KINNEY'S organ, published at San Juan del Norte. It is dated the 15th September, and opens with—

GOV. KINNEY'S INAUGURAL PROCLAMATION TO THE PEOPLE OF SAN JUAN DEL NORTE AND ITS TERRITORY.

You have seen fit by your unsolicited suffrages to elect me Governor of San Juan and its territory. Thankful for the honor thus conferred, I accept it with a deep sense of its responsibilities, and with a firm determination to make the protection of the public interests committed to my care the sole motive of my official conduct.

You are now familiar with the purposes which have brought me to your shores. Contrary to the malicious rumors which preceded my arrival, you now see, that I have come not to rob and destroy, but to build up your city and your fortunes, and by peaceful emigration to assist in the development of your entire country. I am happy, therefore, in referring to the late election as a flattering and conclusive testimony of your confidence in myself, and of the sympathy and cooperation which you are disposed to extend to my great undertaking—an undertaking, to say the least, quite as beneficial to yourselves as to me.

To carry out these objects of mutual advantage, however, it is necessary for us not only to be united, but to establish such a Constitution and such laws and municipal regulations as shall secure for us respect and consideration abroad as well as at home. The absence of the customary forms of Government would deter many desirable persons from settling among us, and certainly the establishment and maintenance of such forms cannot in any manner operate to our prejudice.

I presume, fellow-citizens, it is hardly necessary here for me to repeat, what I have so often and so fully stated to you in conversation, that under my administration all individual rights acquired in good faith before the foundation of the present Government shall be scrupulously respected. In saying this, I speak the sentiments of all my associates.

In adverting to the long standing difficulties with the Accessory Transit Company, I am still in hope that they will soon be removed by amicable negotiations which may result in an arrangement advantageous alike to our country and to yours. To effect such a settlement without the sacrifice of justice or honor, shall be the constant aim of my exertions. Meanwhile, I would especially urge a steady abstinence from all hasty and severely retaliatory measures, lest an action be taken without full and mature deliberation, and let nothing be done which cannot be justified before the world, or which we should be ashamed to vindicate at the hazard of our property and our lives.

Notwithstanding the failure of the last Congress of the United States to make an appropriation remunerating the citizens of San Juan for their losses from the bombardment of the city by Captain HOLLINS, there is a cheering prospect that justice will to some extent be rendered at the coming session. A measure so important to the business interests of the country, and so eagerly demanded by every consideration of justice and humanity, cannot be postponed consistently with the good name of the American Government. Every effort of mine, whether in an official or private capacity, shall be exerted to procure from that Republic a speedy relief to those who are now as majestic deprived of the proceeds of their own honorable industry.

Finally, I congratulate you, fellow-citizens, upon the auspicious commencement of the new Government which you have established. By the action of our population now in prospect, it is our duty to sustain by its founders, to become at some distant day an organization of commanding importance to the civilized world. Relying, under God, upon your cordial and individual support to its institutions and laws, I will only express the hope that whatever else may serve to promote the public welfare, and add dignity to the State, whether it be the encouragement of agriculture, the extension of commerce, the introduction of arts, the advancement of public education and religious freedom, will obtain from you a zealous and effective cooperation. H. L. KINNEY.

SAN JUAN DEL NORTE, Sept. 12, 1855.

Stump Meeting in Greytown.

At a meeting held in Greytown, at which Governor KINNEY presided, the following resolutions were adopted:

1. That a Civil and Military Governor be chosen by the people, to whom full powers shall be delegated for the appointment of such subordinate officers, except the Council hereinafter named, and the establishment of such offices and wholesome laws and regulations as shall appear to him best adapted for the promotion of the general safety and welfare, and the carrying of such laws and regulations into effect, the same to be done with the advice and consent of the Council.

2. Resolved, That a council to be composed of five persons be chosen by the people, whose duty it shall be to consult with and advise the Governor upon all matters connected with the public interest and the consent of a majority of whom shall be necessary to the appointment of any officer and the enactment of any ordinance or regulation.

3. Resolved, That the deliberative meetings of the Governor and Council shall be open to the public, unless, in the opinion of the Governor, the public good should otherwise demand.

4. Resolved, That the Council be empowered by the people to draft a Constitution, which, after receiving the sanction of the Governor, shall be submitted to them for their adoption, by ballot.

5. Resolved, That the Provisional Government now established shall continue in power until such time as it may seem wise and expedient to the people to meet and elect a permanent one under the new Constitution.

6. Resolved, That no taxes shall be levied on the citizens of San Juan or Greytown and its territory without the consent of a majority of the citizens, being a tax on real estate or personal property to the amount of $250, excepting such inhabitants as have been residents six months and upwards.

Highly Important and Exciting News from the Interior.

Movements of Col. Walker—Another Battle—The Government Troops Defeated—Walker Victorious.

We have just received intelligence from the interior bringing an accounts of the late movements of Col. WALKER. On Monday, the 24, Col. WALKER, with one hundred and fifty men, (only eighty of whom were white,) came from San Juan del Sud over to Virgin Bay, and took up his quarters.

General GUARDIOLA immediately came down from Rivas, and attacked him with four hundred men. The result was that the Government party were defeated, with a loss of some fifty men, while WALKER sustained only a loss of one white man and four natives. The Government party is said to have been badly cut up.

STILL LATER.

CONTEMPLATED ATTACK UPON RIVAS.

A messenger, who left shortly after the battle at Virgin Bay, reports that WALKER had returned to San Juan, and would probably attack Rivas in a few days.

It is also reported that the Government had demanded of Mr. SCOTT all arms and munitions in his possession, which he refused to give up.

These arms and munitions it appears consisted of four 12-lb. cannon, forty-eight muskets, and a goodly supply of cartridges, shipped out by the Transit Company, landed at Castillo, (for the use of the forty-eight invincibles who have since absquatulated,) and afterwards placed on board of the steamer Virgin, one of the Transit Company's boats lying at Granada; on board of which they were when the demand was made. Strange development this! What was District Attorney McKEON; and who will the United States Government now set down as Fillibusters?

The men who accompanied Col. KINNEY, who are now busy with the press, pruning hook, axe and spade, upon the lands purchased by the Colonel, or those traversing the country with all the implements of war, ready to "blow 4—" (as our informant says) out of all or anything that comes in their way."

Mr. SCOTT arrived at Punta Arenas on the evening of the 12th inst., on board the Virgin, where he is said to be busy remodeling her into a species of man-of-war for the Company's "defense!"

Affairs on the La Plata—The Revolution in Buenos Ayres—The Difficulties with Brazil—The Republic of Uruguay.

Correspondence of the New-York Daily Times.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sunday, Aug. 12, 1855.

The sailing of the bark Cora, for Baltimore, gives me an opportunity to communicate the news on this station.

My dates from the Rio de la Plata are up to the 6th inst. At Buenos Ayres there had been quite a number of arrests growing out of the late attempt at insurrection; but, greatly to the credit of the Administration, there have been no capital executions. Evidently a much better spirit than the old, sanguinary one is taking possession of the native population and the Administration is illustrating it in its moderate and humane treatment of those implicated in the recent insurrectionary movement.

The resignation of PORTELA, the Secretary of State, is very favorable to tranquillity. He was very unpopular; but Governor GIRGADO seemed determined to resist the popular will and declined to retire him. He has now, under the pressure of public sentiment, resigned, and has been succeeded by ARMA, a lawyer of reputation.

In Paraguay affairs are in an unsettled condition. It will be remembered that the Brazilian Government sent an expedition to Assuncion last Spring to settle sundry questions, and that General LOPEZ succeeded in sending it home without having settled any important point in the controversy. Another expedition is talked of, and LOPEZ is making all possible preparation to receive it. It is said he has 70 32-pounders mounted at the most eligible points on the Paraguay for the annoyance of an enemy. On one fort he has over one hundred guns mounted, some of which are 32s. For several months he has been collecting the means for a defensive war, and while I write several hundred muskets are being put in order for him at Monte Video. By the manner in which LOPEZ has managed the Brazilians, Mr. Secretary MARCY will see what sort of a person he has to deal with, if it should be necessary to correspond with him on the Water Witch affair, and other matters pertaining to the interests of American citizens up the Paraguay.

At present a cloud is hanging over the unfortunate little Republic of Uruguay. The native Orientales have felt uneasy at the presence of 5,000 Brazilian soldiers, who, to say the truth, are necessary to keep the educated Orientales from cutting each other's throats, and they only wait an occasion to overthrow that Administration that depends on foreign bayonets for its existence. It will be remembered that when Brazil offered her troops she, at the same time, tendered a monthly loan of $60,000 to the treasury. It is now asserted that Brazil is about to discontinue the monthly loan; and, as a result of this, the Government of Uruguay may not be able to subsist the Brazilian troops, and they will be withdrawn. In this latter case a revolution is morally certain.

Everybody there is as sure of several forever. The health of Rio continues good. Our home dates represent the cholera at Pará as subsiding. Yellow fever at Pernambuco, and none at Bahia.

The revenue-cutter Joseph Lane, commanded by Captain NOYES, has completed her repairs, and within a few days has a Peruvian war steamer which has kindly offered to tow her through the Straits.

The Joseph Lane is bound to Oregon.

The Secretary, Commodore SALTUS' flag-ship, is here; also the brig Bainbridge and the sloop-of-war Relief. The latter ship will sail in the early part of September, sailing to the United States as passengers the person who is accused of murdering the Captain of the Sea Witch, and with him sundry witnesses.

The United States ship Germantown, Commodore LYNCH, is at Monte Video. The Water Witch, when last heard from, was at Buenos Ayres. S.

Anti-Slavery Movements in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Saturday, Sept. 29.

The following address from the Central Committee of the Whig, Republican and American parties has been published to the people of this State:

TO THE PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

The Whig party, the Republican party, and the American party, having each nominated a candidate for the office of Canal Commissioner, it became apparent that such a division of the elements of opposition to the National Administration, and its Nebraska fraud, would inevitably lead to the triumphant election of ARNOLD PLUMER, the Pro-Slavery Nebraska candidate. In view of these facts, a meeting of our respective Central Committees of said parties was held at Harrisburg on Thursday, the 27th of September, 1855, and their nominees having declined and been withdrawn, THOMAS NICHOLSON, of Beaver County, was nominated as the candidate of the said parties, for the purpose of concentrating the votes of the anti-Nebraska party on one man; and he is hereby earnestly recommended to all the lovers of freedom in Pennsylvania, as a capable, honest, and true-hearted man, who is worthy of the support and confidence of the people. By order of the Committee.

JOHN A. FISHER,
Chairman Whig State Committee;
LEMUEL TODD,
Chairman of the American State Committee;
DAVID WILMOT,
Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

From Boston—The Fall of Sebastopol—Smuggling, etc.

BOSTON, Saturday, Sept. 29.

Upon the arrival of the steamship America at her wharf here, a salute of twenty-seven guns was fired by the American Artillery, at the request of the English and Irish residents of the city, in honor of the victory at Sebastopol.

A female, a Washington-street milliner, who came passenger in the America, was detected last night smuggling laces, &c. A portion of the smuggled goods were found sewed up in one of her under garments.

Destruction of a Patent Leather Manufactory by Fire.

PITTSBURG, Saturday, Sept. 29, 1855.

At one o'clock this morning the patent leather manufactory of Messrs. SHARPES & ARMSTRONG, on the corner of Duquesne-street and Diamond-alley, was entirely consumed by fire, with all its contents. The stock was valued at $6,000, and was insured for $3,000 only, in the Western, Farmers', and New Liberty Companies. The building was owned by Mr. BARTRAM, whose loss is estimated at $12,000, of which $6,000 is insured in the Pennsylvania Mutual Insurance Company.

Yellow Fever in Virginia.

BALTIMORE, Saturday, Sept. 29.

The yellow fever is still abating, though what few new cases there have been are of a very malignant character, which indicates a lack of material for the disease to feed upon.

At Norfolk there were seven deaths on Thursday, and three up to noon on Friday, but no new cases.

At Portsmouth there were twelve deaths on Wednesday, eight on Thursday, and three on Friday, and scarcely any new cases.

Dr. JACKSON is ill. The wife of Rev. Mr. ARMSTRONG is dead.

Yellow Fever at Sea.

SOUTH DENNIS, Mass., Saturday, Sept. 29.

The schooner Marietta Burr, Capt. NICKERSON, from Alexandria for Boston, put in here in distress, with all hands sick of yellow fever. At one time there was not one man on board able to work the vessel.

From Honduras.

NEW-ORLEANS, Wednesday, Sept. 26.

We have dates from Ruatan, Honduras, of the 10th inst.

The Revolutionists were within twenty miles of Truxillo, and the inhabitants of the latter place were flocking to Ruatan for safety. The Spanish Commandant of the city was endeavoring to make it stand against the insurgents.

Movement of Southern Steamers.

SAVANNAH, Saturday, Sept. 29.

The steamship August has arrived at her wharf here, after a passage of sixty-two hours from New-York, with all on board well.

CHARLESTON, Saturday, Sept. 29.

The U. S. Mail steamship Southerner, Capt. THOS. EWEN, arrived here, from New-York, at 5 o'clock this (Saturday) morning.

The Southern Mail.

BALTIMORE, Saturday, Sept. 29.

New-Orleans papers of Sunday last are to hand, but they contain no news of interest.

PROVIDENCE, Saturday, Sept. 29.

COTTON—The sales of the week have been limited to about the same range of prices. WOOL—The Sales have been confined to a few large purchases, prices being well sustained. Sales 120,000 lbs. FOREIGN CLOTHS—Prices firm, with an upward tendency. The supply of goods is materially diminished, in consequence of the drought, and the stock was never smaller. Sales 55,000 pieces.

NEW-YORK CITY.

The Courts for October.

The October Terms of the Civil and Criminal Courts commence this morning with a most formidable calendar of heavy causes, many of which will produce great excitement. The POOLE murder, for which BAKER and others stand indicted, stands for trial in the Oyer and Terminer, but it is probable that a motion will be made to change the venue to another County, on account of the difficulty of getting a Jury from this City. There are several other murder cases which probably will be remitted to the Sessions under the new act.

The Supreme Court Circuit and Special Term will be in session, as also the Superior Court, four terms. The Forrest divorce case will probably come up on motion for a new trial; and at next prize there are many causes affecting Railroad Companies and Monetary Corporations, of unusual importance. The Common Pleas will have two Judges sitting at nisi prius for the first three weeks of the term.

Conductors are Scrupulous Characters.

A new check upon Railroad Conductors has been devised, and is now in practical operation on the Sixth-avenue cars. It is very simple, and is worked by the Conductor himself. An index, with a single hand, is controlled by a spring, the handle of which projects at the hinder end of the car. The index has a face like a common office clock, numbered from 1 to 60. It is placed midway of the car, in view of the advertising panels. As each passenger enters, the conductor strikes the bell attached to the mechanism and the index moves one step forward,—or more, or the clock may be. If a dozen passengers come in at once, there are twelve sharp strokes, and the number that appears at the intersection of the plus to the minus indicates to passengers the number of the City Railroad Commissioner, and the number each bears, thus enabling the Commissioner to see at a glance how many fares the conductor has rung up. This is the first contrivance to check the conductors. This is the first contrivance to prevent abuses. The Railroad people seem quickly to see the advantages of the invention, and capitalists of the city are talking of the right of patent, in the City Railroad Commissioner, the Superintendent of Police, and the Mayor, to be the Board of Patent Right Commissioners, and to grant the right to any person who may wish to put it on his car.

Cable Street—Are the Records.

It may be well enough to mention, for the information of those, especially strangers, who may have some cause to be in the Tombs, that the Cable Street Station-house is now kept by Mr. DAVID D. MUTTON of Philadelphia, and the prisoners who are kept in it are not compelled to pay from $2 to $3 to take him out of the city, but are allowed to remain until a Judge comes, or, if a prisoner is to be tried, until he is taken to the City Hall.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Before Hon. Justice ROOSEVELT.

Littlefield vs. Fellows.—This was a motion to confirm an order for the appointment of a Referee. An order for the examination of the plaintiff's books was refused. Before the argument the motion was withdrawn.

CLERKS.—Gentlemen to try how they think that the issuing of a second execution, if the first is returned unsatisfied, is a proper exercise of the power of the Court, by default, must be reversed.

Kelly vs. Wallace.—Where a judgment upon a promissory note is made payable to a Corporation, it is deemed by a person who stands in the relation of a creditor, entitled to the protection of the Statute of Limitations.

Cornwell vs. Haggerty.—Where a judgment of the Superior Court of the Marine Court is set aside, and a new trial granted, the Court do not, as a matter of the attachment, or the property levied upon, and not previously sold, be sold by the Marine Court, by default, must be reversed.

Keeler vs. Wallace.—Where a judgment upon a promissory note is made payable to a Corporation, it is deemed by a person who stands in the relation of a creditor, entitled to the protection of the Statute of Limitations.

Cornwell vs. Haggerty.—Where a judgment of the Superior Court of the Marine Court is set aside, and a new trial granted, the Court do not, as a matter of the attachment, or the property levied upon, and not previously sold, be sold by the Marine Court, by default, must be reversed.

Gardner vs. Price.—Judgment affirmed.

Jones Phelps vs. Bangs & Ridgway.—Judgment reversed.

Wadsworth vs. Mitchell.—Judgment affirmed and a new trial ordered.

King vs. Kirwan.—Judgment affirmed.

Report and aff. intention.

Report filed March 2, 1819.

State of New-York, City and County of New-York, ss.—I, Benjamin H. Jarvis, Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas for the City and County of New-York, do hereby certify that I have compared the preceding copy report with the original thereof in my office, and that the same is a correct transcript thereof, and of the whole of the said original.

In witness whereof, I have hereto set my hand and the seal of the said Court, this 27th day of September, 1855. B. H. JARVIS, Clerk.

HISTORY OF THE PRECEDING PAPERS.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Supervisors passed several months since, the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas was directed to employ a person to arrange the records and papers, who, in doing so, found the above naturalization report and original blank draft affidavit of GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, in a large package of similar reports and drafts of those who, (like GEORGE MATSELL, tailor,) after they applied for naturalization, never became citizens of the United States, because they would not finally put their hand on the Bible, and swear by the ever-living God that they would forever renounce all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign Prince, Potentate, State, or Sovereignty whatever, and particularly to the Sovereign of their native land.

GEORGE MATSELL, TAILOR, IDENTIFIES WITH HIM OF THE BRANDON REGISTRY.

GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, says in the above report, that he was born in Walsingham, County of Norfolk England. Half of Brandon is also in Norfolk County and half in Suffolk County, the town being divided by a small river.

AND THE LITTLE BRANDON GEORGEY OVE CHIEF OF POLICE.

So that the report of GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, corresponds in this respect with the baptismal register of GEORGE, (the Chief of Police,) AUGUSTUS and ELIZABETH, at Brandon, Norfolk County, England. GEORGE MATSELL next says in his naturalization report, that his pursuit is that of a tailor, which corresponds with all the affidavits of England and America on the subject, and also corresponds with the Brandon baptismal Register, where, at the baptism of GEORGE, AUGUSTUS and ELIZABETH, he is recorded as a tailor. GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, made his naturalization report on March 2, 1819, which corresponds with the arrival of himself and family in America in the Autumn of 1817, (one year and a few months previous,) in the ship Perseus, which event has been established by a large number of affidavits of those who came with him, in the Perseus, and who formed an acquaintance with the MATSELL family when they resided where the Metropolitan Hotel now stands.

THE REGISTER ILLUMINATED BY THE AFFIDAVITS OF TWO HEMISPHERES.

The first appearance of the name of GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, No. 557 Broadway, in the New-York Directory of 1816, strongly confirms his arrival in 1817, and his application for naturalization in the Spring of 1819, one year and a fraction after his arrival in America. GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, in his naturalization report, says that his wife's name is ELIZABETH, which corresponds with all the affidavits in England and America on the subject, which say that GEORGE MATSELL, the tailor's wife's maiden name, was ELIZABETH CONSTABLE. The Brandon Register also says that his wife's name was ELIZABETH. GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, above, reports the names of his six alien children, and gives their respective ages in 1819, which correspond to a second with the Brandon Register, and with all the affidavits in both Hemispheres on the subject.

WHERE ALL THE ALIEN MATSELLS ARE.

The three first named alien children, viz.: WILLIAM, MARY and SUSAN, were born in Soho square, London. WILLIAM was a tailor, and died long since in this country. MARY resides in Williamsburg, L. I., and will not permit herself to be subpœnaed by the legal authorities of this City, her residence being literally surrounded and protected by bull-dogs, and revolvers in the hands of her desperate kindred and friends.

AN ALIEN CONSUL AT MANCHESTER.

SUSAN is the wife of Mr. FIORI, whose father married an English woman. Mr. Fiori, the father, was never naturalized, nor was his son, although the latter represents America as Consul at Manchester, England, at this moment, and SUSAN resides there with him, both husband and with their composing an entire foreign delegation to that important loyalty.

Following WILLIAM, MARY and SUSAN, (in GEORGE MATSELL'S, tailor's, naturalization report) are GEORGE, AUGUSTUS and ELIZABETH, (named after her mother,) who were all born in Brandon, Norfolk County, England. I have brought to America the certificates of Rev. SAMUEL WARNER, the present Rector of the Brandon Church, to prove this, and also the certificates of the Postmaster of Brandon, and of the Parish Clerk, and also numerous affidavits from citizens of Brandon.

THE BIG BUGS THAT BACKED UP BRANCH.

I showed the Brandon register to Hon. JAS. BUCHANAN, the American Minister at London, and I obtained a certificate from THEODORE SEDGWICK certifying that GEORGE, AUGUSTUS and ELIZABETH were recorded in the Brandon register. And what corroborates all this is the naturalization report of GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, which says that GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, was a native of Walsingham, County of Norfolk, which is the same County in which one half of Brandon is located.

FIGURES NEVER LIE—STICK IN A PIN.

GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, says in his naturalization report that his son GEORGE was an alien of seven years old in 1819, which corresponds with the Brandon Register, which says that "GEORGE, son of GEORGE MATSELL, and ELIZABETH, his wife, was baptized privately Oct. 10, and received Dec. 26, 1811." Now, from Oct

[illegible]

GEORGE MATSELL, the present Chief of Police, swore that his name was GEORGE WASHINGTON MATSELL. He also signed his name as GEORGE W. MATSELL, a few days since, at the close of a continuacion communication addressed to the Chairman of the Police Committee. But GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, in his naturalization report of 1819, to the Court of Common Pleas of that day, says that the name of his son was GEORGE MATSELL, without the "W." This leaves a nice question of veracity between his father, GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, and the Common Pleas records and the Brandon Register, on the one hand, and GEORGE MATSELL, the Chief of Police, with his assumed "W" on the other.

DID HIS MOTHER TELL HIM SO?

GEORGE MATSELL, the Chief of Police, also swore before the Police Committee, that the only evidence he ever had of his place of nativity, was that his mother (who died only two or three years since) told him that he was born in America. Now, GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, in his naturalization report, says that his son GEORGE, (the present Chief of Police,) was an alien of seven years old in the Spring of 1819, which made GEORGE, according to the simplest principles of subtraction, about six years old in the Autumn of 1817, when he arrived in the ship Perseus, with his father, in America. The question is then very naturally asked, how could GEORGE MATSELL, the Chief of Police, (whom his own father says, in his naturalization report, was an alien of seven years old in 1819,) have been born in America, as he says his mother told him, who, herself, arrived in America in 1817, when her son GEORGE was about six years old, and of foreign birth!

THE TAILOR AND THE CHIEF AGREE FOR ONCE.

GEORGE MATSELL, the Chief of Police, also swore before the Police Committee, that he was born in 1813, and was forty-four years old, which precisely corresponds with his father's naturalization report, and with the Brandon Register, and with all the affidavits of both continents on the subject.

WHAT THE DIRECTORIES SHOW.

And if there be any doubt, in the teeth of all this overwhelming evidence, as to GEORGE MATSELL, the Chief of Police, being the infant GEORGE at the baptismal font in Brandon, Norfolk County, England, in 1811, I will state that there never was published in the Directory of the City of New-York prior, and from 1800 to 1855, but three persons named MATSELL, viz GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, No. 557 Broadway, and GEORGE MATSELL, Chief of Police, and his son, marshal, both residing in Stanton-street. DAVID T. VALENTINE, Clerk of the Common Council, and Mr. DOWNING, City Inspector, at the request of Alderman ERICSON, furnished two sets of the New-York Directory, from 1800 to 1855, which were examined before the Committee, the New-York press fully represented, and it was sworn to by Mr. VALENTINE'S Clerk, and by Mr. DOWNING'S Clerk, that GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, is first found in 1816, and is the only person named MATSELL in the Directory of 1816, and that only the son and grandson, of Stanton-street, could be found in the New-York Directory in subsequent years, up to the year 1855. Moreover, for 200 miles around Brandon, England, I could hear of no person, male or female, named MATSELL, either living or dead, and in the Liverpool and London Directories I could find no person named MATSELL. And if there be another person bearing that name in America, I dare him to come forth, and give his reference, and give his place of birth or residence, and swear that his name is MATSELL. I think he would be a curiosity of the rarest kind.

CERTAIN CHALLENGED FOR ANOTHER MATSELL.

And in this connection, I will state that, inasmuch as GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, was the first person ever known, since father ADAM, who bore the name of MATSELL, I think he was a sort of foundling, and finding himself selling mats one day, and not knowing his own name, called himself MATSELL, or a seller-of-mats. All names, common and proper, have their derivation, and I think the name of MATSELL originally came from a mat-seller.

THE BLANK AFFIDAVIT EXPLAINED.

The naturalization report of GEORGE MATSELL tailor, which I have just thoroughly analyzed, has the signature of GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, and is in the hands of the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, of this City, Mr. BENJAMIN H. JARVIS. Following the naturalization report is the blank affidavit, which begins with "I ———, being duly sworn, do declare on oath, that it is bona fide my intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign Prince, Potentate, State, or Sovereignty whatever, and particularly to ———

Sworn in open Court this ——— day of 18———

(Endorsed)

GEORGE MATSELL.

Report and aff. intention.

Report filed 2d March, 1819."

The above is the blank and original naturalization draft of an affidavit of GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, which he, for reasons best known to himself, did not fill up and sign. After "I" should have been "GEORGE MATSELL," immediately preceding "being duly sworn, do declare," &c. After "to" should have been "the Sovereign of England," his native country. After "this" should have followed the day of the month. After "of" should have been the name of the month. After "18" should have been the figures "19." And after "19" should have followed the signature of the Mayor of that day, with his solemn record that GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, had taken the naturalization oath.

MR. BRANCH ARGUES A DOUBTFUL POINT.

But even after all this had been done, and GEORGE MATSELL, tailor, had become a citizen of the United States, his son, GEORGE MATSELL, the present Chief of Police, would still have been an alien. The naturalization of the father does not make his alien children citizens. There are many aliens voting in this country under this sad delusion now, and I advise them to be careful, for if caught, the loss of their civil rights, and a dungeon will be their doom. By the naturalization law of 1802, the alien children of a naturalized father could vote at the age of 21. But that law soon became a nullity, and was only intended as a grateful return to the children of those foreign patriots who had emerged from the perils of the Revolution. But the law of 1802 was soon abrogated by JEFFERSON, about the time he exclaimed, "O! that there was an ocean of fire to separate America from the mother country."

SIGNIFICANT ALLUSIONS THAT THE UNINITIATED WON'T UNDERSTAND.

GEORGE MATSELL, Chief of Police, swore before the Police Committee that he did not know where his father resided in England, before he came to America. Even admitting that his father and mother, and elder brother and sisters, never told him, up to this time, (which is a most tremendous admission and concession,) still I think that GEORGE, being six years old at his immigration, should remember something of voyage—something of Dr. DICKEY, who, for want of money, smuggled himself away in the freight hole of the Perseus, and who compulsorily came out in two or three days after for food—and something of the funny and mysterious conduct of Dr. DICKEY with a certain passenger during the voyage. It was singular, too, that, being six years old, GEORGE cannot remember the terrific thunder storm—the Perseus on her beam ends—the numerous runaway passengers on board, and the one week's famine among the passengers of the Perseus, and her extraordinary passage of more than three months from Portsmouth to Nova Scotia.

A DELICATE BIT AT DR. DICKEY.

GEORGE'S WEAK MEMORIAL POWERS.

GEORGE'S weak memorial powers surprise me the more especially as I can remember as far back as five years old. I remember our cow Tabitha was missing four days, when one bright summer morning IRA BAILEY drove Tabitha home; and I remember my good Decisions In Admiralty on Appeal.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.—Sept. 28.

Before Judge Nelson.

COLLISION IN HELL GATE—DUTY OF STEAMBOATS.

William D. Pierce vs. The Steam Propeller Osceola.—NELSON, C. J.—This is a libel filed by the appellant, owner of the schooner John R. Stull, to recover her value, she having been sunk in a collision with the Osceola on the 30th March, 1854, in Hell Gate. The schooner was on her course for the Sound from New-York, and had arrived off Negro Point, where the collision occurred. The tide was flood in its last quarter, and running at the rate of about two knots an hour. The wind was light and from the N. E., not sufficient to fill the sails. Her steerage-way was kept by two men in a boat ahead, towing her at the rate of a knot or half a knot an hour. The true tide at this place runs near Negro Point, and when about opposite takes a direction toward the Long Island shore, and between Negro Point and Negro Skuff there is an eddy that runs to the west when the tide is flood, and there is a counter current to the tide by which vessels are sometimes carried out of the true tide into the eddy.

The Osceola was bound for New-York and was making her way along this eddy at the rate of six or seven miles an hour at 11 o'clock of the day mentioned. The schooner had been in full view for some distance by those on board the propeller, in the helpless condition in which she was on account of the lightness of the wind. The propeller was heading so as to take the eddy to Negro Point, and then cross the true tide, as was customary for that description of vessel in the navigation. She kept on her course with the rate of speed mentioned till within two or three lengths of the schooner, when she rang her bell, to slow and stop and back; but the collision could not be avoided. She struck the schooner on her larboard bow and sunk her within a few minutes.

The case was heard before Judge INGERSOLL, who decreed in favor of the libelant. The only excuse set up for the collision on behalf of the propeller is that the schooner was out of the proper track of vessels going east through Hell Gate; that she should have been in the true tide, whereas she had passed into the eddy.

Even if this could be a satisfactory excuse for the injury, the answer is that according to the weight of the evidence she was in the true tide at the time, and not in the eddy, but if otherwise, the fault was with the propeller. She might have passed on either side of the schooner, as nearly all the witnesses agree there was sufficient room.

But the true ground to charge the propeller with the wrong is that the schooner was in the true course of vessels passing east into the Sound, and kept it; and it was her duty, having seen this vessel in sufficient time, to have adopted such a course as would have avoided her in passing.

Nothing but negligence or incompetence on the part of the propeller could have led to the accident under the circumstances. We think the decree below right, and affirm it with costs.

For libelants, Messrs. Butler and Evarts. For appellants, Mr. Cutting and Mr. Leveridge.

COLLISION—LIGHTS—LOOK-OUT—DUTY OF STEAMERS—ACCIDENT.

Chester W. Chapin vs. The Schooner E. Brainard.

Erastus Brainard et al. vs. The Steamboat Traveler.—NELSON, C. J.—These were cross libels brought in the Court below to recover damages resulting from a collision of the two vessels, that occurred on the morning of the 26th November, 1852, in the East River, just east of the Islands of the North Brother, Brother, and west of Riker's Island. Both cases depend upon the same state of facts. The cases were heard before Judge Ingersoll, sitting in the District Court. The libel filed on behalf of the owners of the E. Brainard was dismissed, and the one in favor of the Traveler sustained, the Court holding that the schooner was in fault, and liable for all the injuries sustained by the collision.

The master and three hands, who were on board the schooner and witnessed the collision, were examined on behalf of that vessel; and two, the pilot and wheelsman, who were on board the Traveler and witnessed the collision, on behalf of that vessel. The engineer was also examined, but he did not witness it.

The night was dark, neither moon nor starlight, and the sky somewhat overcast. The collision occurred about 6 o'clock in the morning, just before or at the break of day. Some eight or ten vessels were lying at anchor, with their lights burning, between the South Brother and Riker's Island, some of them in the river, outside of a line drawn between the exterior points of the two islands; the others within it, or inside. The schooner had left New-York that morning, bound for Portland, Conn. The Traveler had left New-Haven, and was bound for New-York. She saw the schooner's lights when about half a mile off, and while she was making her way between the Two Brothers, the Traveler that being a little east of the head of Riker's Island, and in a course passing it not far distant. The wind was east of north, according to the weight of the testimony, and the schooner was close hauled on her larboard tack on passing between the Brothers. She was going at the rate of five or six knots an hour; the Traveler about twelve, so that the joint speed, if meeting in opposite directions, would bring them together in some three and a half minutes after the schooner was first seen.

The schooner passed between the Brothers, close to the South Brother, and as she approached the vessels at anchor to the leeward, the master gave an order to the helmsman to luff so as to clear those vessels, and soon after another order, to keep his sails close to the first time he discovered the Traveler ahead, and instantly ordered the helm hard up and the mainsheet slacked, to bear away. The pilot of the Traveler, who was the officer of the watch, on the quarter and backing support, in the course of the vessel before the order to luff; but, in going so, she struck the pilot-house of the Traveler

From California and Central America.

The steamship Star of the West arrived at this port yesterday at noon, with over a million in freight, bringing San Francisco dates to the 5th inst. We regret to learn that there were no less than twelve deaths from fevers during the passage.

The news from California is unimportant. The elections in San Francisco were to be held on the day the steamer left—three parties being in the field, Democrat, Know-Nothing, and Whig. The Whigs, indeed, seem to have revived in the Pacific State. They have nominated a ticket, issued a party newspaper, and are quite hopeful for the result. A serious riot occurred in San Francisco at a primary election held on the 31st of August, in which two ruffians were shot while assailing a peaceable man. The Oregon papers contain glowing accounts of the Colville mines. From other sources, however, we learn that the success of these mines is not so certain as many are too eager to represent. The Indians have again been troublesome at the North. It is reported that several tribes in the vicinity of Fort Hall have joined together for the purpose of exterminating the whites.

The British frigate Amphitrite had returned to San Francisco from the last Allied expedition to the Russian Possessions. The fleet had sailed from Petropolovski for Ayan, on the Amoor River, whither it was supposed the Russians had fled. Strange to say, the Allies found Ayan also deserted, and were entirely unable to discover the remotest trace of their opponents' whereabouts.

Our dates from Honolulu are to the 28th of July. The Polynesian has an article on the policy of maintaining good relations with France. From Tahiti we learn that the Governor has issued a decree, dated Port of France, New Caledonia, declaring that Island part of the Colonial domain of the French Empire.

The news from Central America is highly interesting. Col. KIRKBY's paper, the Central American, has been fairly started. The first number contains the Colonel's Inaugural Proclamation to the people of San Juan del Norte and its territory, on the occasion of his being elected Governor of the same. At a mass meeting of citizens, held subsequently at Greytown, the civil and military departments of a Government were duly organized. The Central American publishes important intelligence from the interior. On the 3d inst. Col. WALKER, with one hundred and fifty men, encountered GUADIOLA with treble that number of troops at Virgin Bay. The latter were repulsed, leaving fifty of their men dead. Col. WALKER only lost one white man and four natives. It was said that in all probability he would attack RIVAS within a few days.

According to latest advices, the San Francisco markets were steady and business good.

Kansas and Missouri—Effect of Recent Movements on St. Louis.

Retributive justice is often a terrible thing. The borough of Erie has found it so. The penalty she is paying for her railroad mobs is nothing less than a blight upon her prosperity for a generation to come, and perhaps forever.

The State of Missouri begins to feel, in the manner, the violence of ATCHISON and Company, and their reckless associates, visiting upon her own head. And unless she vindicates her character in the eyes of the public, by putting down these outrages and establishing the dominion of law and justice within her own territory, and towards the armed people of Kansas, she may read her fate in that of Erie. She will shut out from her borders all desirable emigrants more effectually than she could do by building a Chinese wall against them. Peaceable, industrious, virtuous, and prosperous people will be careful to establish themselves elsewhere. Loafers, gamblers, drunkards, and such like emigrants, alone will seek their abode in a land where printing presses are destroyed, emigrants mobbed, and ATCHISON and STRINGFELLOW are sustained.

Our neighbors in St. Louis need not hope to escape their share of the curse. They will do wisely to heed the faithful and manly warnings of the Intelligencer, recently copied into the TIMES. They should remember that capital and enterprise are timid, and seek the protection of law and order. They will avoid cities where it is understood that men of property and influence, who are opposed to mob law, are overawed and dare not speak out. Boldness and energy in establishing right and justice, and conquering illegal violence effectually and thoroughly, are now absolutely necessary to save that flourishing city from a great calamity. Timidity in this respect would do more to build up rival cities in the West, at their expense, than they can be aware of.

Let opinion they decide to embrace their decisive upon the people of Kansas, we have good evidence that they will meet a very in-

[illegible]

They cannot, amid the shouts of speech or of the press, nor down Slavery upon those people without bloodshed—and the great Northern heart now beats in sympathy with the men who have legally and peacefully established themselves in that Territory. Before Missouri enters upon this war, she will do well to count the cost; and especially to consider how it will affect her relations with the Free States as a commercial and agricultural State. These States contribute vastly more to her prosperity than the Southern States possibly can. She can by a hostile attitude towards them very quickly sink the whole value of her slaves a hundred times over, even though direct and open violence exists merely between herself and Kansas—and she should reflect upon the possibility that this may not be the limit. If she kindles the fire on her prairies, it may burn more extensively than she intends.

But suppose, further, that by the aid of President PIERCE she shall succeed in the conquest of Kansas, she will still have a geographical connection with the Free States; and she will desire to have commercial relations with them. Many of her people, especially the citizens of St. Louis, are in the habit of visiting the East every year, and they must meet the people whose friends it is proposed to oppress and butcher or drive out of Kansas. If they join in the outrage, or if their behavior in respect to it is pusillanimous, it will not soon be forgotten, nor will their relations with the people of the Free States be very agreeable. The value of Slavery to their State will be but a poor compensation for the consequences of such a course.

In our view, the vital interests of Missouri, and especially those of St. Louis, are now staked upon the course adopted there in relation to Kansas. A decided, energetic and successful movement to crush the party that has assailed Kansas, will be of more value to her than all the slaves in the United States would be; and, on the contrary, if she suffers these outrages to proceed, she blights her own prosperity for a century to come.

The Matzell Case—Sebastopol Taken at Last.

BRANCH is out again. Another long communication from him will be found in another column concerning the nativity of Mr. MATZELL. And this time, we must confess, he seems to have made out his case. He publishes the original application of the original MATZELL to be naturalized,—which he was not.

It seems to us about time that the public heard something from Mr. MATZELL himself on this subject. He is alleged, and apparently proved, to have been born in England;—and at the same time to have declared himself in an official document, a native born American. Has he nothing to say—no explanation to give of this discrepancy? If he has anything to offer, it ought to be forthcoming. If his claim to be a native born citizen was the result of forgetfulness, or ignorance, he should say so. If the proofs of his alienage are defective, let him point to the particular in which they fail. Any explanation is better than silence, and the evasion of the inquiry which he has practised hitherto. If this be persisted in, it will inevitably be construed into a tack confession of guilt.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—This great lyric establishment opens to-night for the season of forty performances. The company is a promising one, and the manager, Mr. PATEN, a gentleman of standing and social influence. Everything seems to promise an agreeable and, we hope, prosperous campaign. "Il Trovatore," the successful novelty of last season, opens the campaign, and will be followed by "Somnambula," "Norma," and "Massaniello." Three of MEYERBEER's new operas are to be produced, including "L'Etoile du Nord." The principal changes in the casts of the "Trovatore" are in the female rôles of Azucena and Leonora, Signorina ALDINI and Mme. LA GRANGE supplying the places of VESTVALI and STEFFANONE.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Mr. BOKEE's eminently successful tragedy of "Francesca da Rimini" will be given to-night, with Mr. E. L. DAVENPORT in the leading rôle. No one should miss the opportunity of seeing this tragedy.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—The new opera of "Rip Van Winkle" will be repeated every evening this week.

On Saturday evening the proceeds of the house are to be devoted to the relief of the sufferers by yellow fever in Norfolk.

BURTON'S THEATRE.—TOM TAYLOR's drama, called "Still Waters Run Deep," will be given to-night, and the farce of "P. P., or The Man and His Tiger."

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—Mr. WALLACK's highly successful comedy of the "Game of Love" crowds this little temple every night, and is very properly kept on the bills. It will be given every night this week.

An extravagant but highly amusing farce was produced here, on Saturday evening, enjoying the quaint title of "How Stout You're Getting." It is from the pen of one of the MORTONS. The fun of the piece arises from the alarm of a gentleman at his own obesity, and the ridiculous efforts he makes to reduce his weight, by great physical activity, such as fetching coal, water, &c. Mr. HALL has a part that fits him to a nicety, and succeeded in keeping the house in a roar. The farce was eminently successful, and is worth waiting to see.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—Mlle. RACHEL repeats her performance of Hermione, in RACINE's "Andromaque" to-night. There is a rumor that Mlle. RACHEL intends singing the "Marseillaise" on some early night. Also, that she gives another evening's readings on Thursday next at Niblo's Saloon.

OLYMPIC THEATRE, No. 444 BROADWAY.—This famous band of minstrels inaugurate their new Hall to-night, in the City Assembly buildings. We have seen it, and unhesitatingly pronounce it the handsomest building of the kind in America. It is in reality a remarkably beautiful little theatre, (not very little either, for it seats sixteen hundred persons,) possessing a neat stage, private boxes, family circle, &c. Altogether, it is a creditable addition to the many places of amusement in New-York, and equal to any of them in elegance.

BUCKLEY'S SERENADERS, No. 539 BROADWAY. The successful burlesque on DONIZETTI's "Daughter of the Regiment" will be given every evening this week, together with a varied programme of Ethiopian music.

MUSICAL UNION CONCERTS, No. 663 BROADWAY.—These entertainments are got up with care, and present many features of excellence. They merit success. In addition to the ordinary attractions of good music, &c., the "Bean Children" have been engaged for to-night.

THE HIBERNIA, No. 410 BROADWAY.—Mr. ALEXANDER GIBBS will repeat his Irish entertainment to-night at the Apollo Rooms. It is a novel entertainment and worthy of patronage.

JOHN R. SMITH'S GRAND TOUR OF EUROPE.—The great success of this work has induced the proprietor to remain a short time longer in New-York. The place of exhibition has been changed from the Crystal Palace to 597 Broadway. The latter place will open on Thursday next.

Letters from Kossuth.

Kossuth's Views of the Effect of the Fall of Sebastopol.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

VENICE, ISLE OF WIGHT, England, Thursday, Sept. 18, 1855.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

SIR: Great news by this mail. The south of Sebastopol has fallen at last. Immense rejoicings in England. The feeling is somewhat more mixed in France. Still, in the first emotions, the tidings of a brilliant victory cannot fail to create enthusiasm:—with a nation like the French, the sentiment of national glory must of course predominate. Luckily for LOUIS NAPOLEON BONAPARTE the surpassing interest of the fall of Sebastopol came in very good time to divert public attention from the debacle of DELIBERANDE, of which you will have got the news by this same mail.

I will not trouble you with the details of the fall of Sebastopol. We of course cannot yet know more of them than what the telegraphic dispatches, published by official authority, have announced. The fact at all events is beyond doubt.

Referring you therefore for the facts to the public papers, I will restrict myself to give you my opinion on the probable bearing of the fact. What influence is it likely to have either on negotiations for peace or on the further prosecution of the war?—in a word: What next? Such is the question that forcibly presents itself.

As to the prospects of peace—it is my decided opinion that these are rather lessened than otherwise by the fall of the south of Sebastopol. In an absolute point of view I never did nor do attach any considerable importance to this enterprise. I always thought and think that it was a great mistake to choose that point for an attack on Russia, the professed object of which is to secure Europe from her political preponderance. I have often expressed the opinion that nothing to be achieved in that quarter can either break Russia's power of resistance or bring her to satisfactory terms. Destruction of Sebastopol and of the Russian Black Sea fleet is, in my opinion, nothing but an insult, that does not take away strength; it is doubly so when we remember that the siege of Sebastopol was undertaken, coupled with the pledge solemnly given to Austria, that under no circumstances is the territorial extension of the Russian Empire to be impaired. The word I was the first to advance has almost become vernacular, that, with a policy pledged to maintain the integrity of the Russian Empire, a fortress and a fleet destroyed, is but a fortress and a fleet to be built up again stronger than ever in a few years. The case would be somewhat different had the allied powers the intention to keep the Crimea. But, on the one hand, until now at least, this intention they had not; on the other hand, the Crimea is no barrier that defends, it is an acquisition that requires defence; and to make good this defence one of two things is indispensable—either the maintenance of a very large standing army in the Crimea, or else the pushing back of Russia entirely from the Black Sea, consequently from the immediate neighborhood of the Crimea. Without either the one or the other of these alternatives, as soon as the Allies would march out Russia would march in again. The first alternative implies the condition of an armed peace, to the cost of which neither England nor France would choose to submit in the long run; besides, it implies the tortuous question, Who is it that will undertake the charge? England and France together? that supposes the incredible circumstance of a perpetual entente cordial between them. No man so foolish as to build his house on such loose sand. England alone? France would not agree to it. France alone? England would object to it. Turkey alone? would thank for the ruinous gift. Turkey, assisted by the Allies? would suppose these Allies always allies; and would imply, besides, the opening of the Dardanelles, and of the Bosphorus—equivalent to an overthrow of the independence of Turkey. The second alternative (that of pushing back Russia from the Black Sea,) implies, in its turn, the necessity of an independent Circassia, and of a Daco-Roumain State with Bessarabia and the Territory of Oczakoff up to Cherson; a combination which would be absolute nonsense without the full reconstruction of Poland in its ancient extent;—a thing beyond the limits of the determination of the Allies. At all events, of two things, one, either the Allies make a campaign in Poland, or they make not; in the first case they ought to have done it without sacrificing one hundred thousand of their best troops, and about four thousand five hundred millions of francs under a town, the capture of which would have been an easy work by a secondary diversion, had it but been defended by a garrison instead of the principal army of Russia, as with a Polish campaign the case would have been undoubtedly;—on the other hand, if the Allies don't mean to make a Polish campaign, they cannot think of keeping the Crimea; and if they don't keep the Crimea, then indeed the fortress and the fleet destroyed there is but a fortress and a fleet to be built up again. With a great power like Russia it is but an insult that does not take away strength. However, under other circumstances, it might have been a matter of choice for Russia how far to resent or not to resent that insult; but under the circumstances, such as they are, to resent it to the utmost is an imperative necessity for the Czar. Sebastopol is the field on which the contending parties have measured their power for a year. The eyes of the world—of Asia, especially—have been riveted on that spot. The long-protracted struggle there identified the prestige of the Czar's invincibility with the name of Sebastopol. Sebastopol fallen shakes that prestige to its very foundation; the Czar submitting to that fall would ruin that prestige irretrievably. Whatever be the personal inclinations of Czar ALEXANDER, (a débonnaire young man he is, we are told,) he has no choice; he would not live one week if he dared to sign the ruin of the prestige of Russia's power. He cannot sue for peace; he cannot accept any conditions—were even some offered him—under this pressure; he must fight, until either the strength of his empire be broken or the prestige of his power redressed.

That the Crimean enterprise has been a dreadful mistake was all the while so evident that the Allied Governments (you remember) were obliged to plead the excuse of considerations for Austria; however, this excuse was of a nature so humiliating that Lord PALMERSTON now himself under the obligation of pleading something else besides. He therefore always insisted emphatically on the fact that at Sebastopol is the key of Russia's preponderance—there is the seat of danger,—that key taken, that danger removed;—the object of the war is accomplished, and the war is virtually brought to an end. I believe, quite entirely the contrary opinion; I said the taking of Sebastopol, whether morning, solves no question, and brings nothing to an end. Quite the reverse. Success at Sebastopol will make peace impossible—will rather inaugurate a real and protracted war. That will be the veritable beginning of the war, but not the beginning of the end.

The moment has come to know which of us has been right in the estimation of the nature of events. I say the fall of the south of Sebastopol puts a speedy termination of the war entirely out of question.

What, then, is next to come? In my opinion, for the next Winter the campaign will probably be restricted to the Crimea, and next year it will still continue there; while on the other hand, the naval operations in the Baltic will be resumed with augmented forces, and on a more effective scale. These operations, being at this advanced season, out of question, for the time being, only the Crimea remains. Well, as to the Crimea, two circumstances must be borne in mind. The first is, that the north side of Sebastopol, with Severnaya and its thousand guns, is not yet so much as invested or besieged. The second is, that the south of Sebastopol is destroyed, but not the army that defended it. Hence the double problem for the Allies—to take the fortress, and to overcome the army. If the Russians were such fools as to crowd their army in and around the north of Sebastopol, the task of the Allies would be easier, and in case of success would yield richer results. By investing the fortress, they would become the masters of the line of communication of the Russians—the only one that is left to them—the line of Perekop. In such a case, the fortress once taken, the army had to capitulate. But such a folly on the part of the Russians is out of question, of course. They will leave a proper garrison to defend the fortress; and take a stand with their main power outside, somewhere about Simpheropol at all events, so as to have their line of communication open and secured. If the Allies restrict themselves to a regular siege of the north of Sebastopol, the task is not an easy one; because it will be difficult for them now, to establish a new basis of operation, and with the old basis of Balaklava and Kamiches, the north of Sebastopol can scarcely be properly invested. At all events, if they do that, they will watch the movements of the Russian army on their flank, and the Russians in their turn will harrass them in their siege operations. Things are likely to have a long run, in that case. If on the contrary the Allies, leaving a proper force in the proper place, near Sebastopol, follow the main army of the enemy to the interior, (provided they are well enough provide with means of transport) then if the Russians think themselves capable of accepting a pitched battle, well, they will fight; if not they will decline the battle, and retreat towards Perekop. Things may again have a long run. But should the Allies, leaving a proper force in their fortified camp, shift their basis of operation rapidly, and transfer their main force to Eupatoria, the condition of the Russians would become rather difficult. They at once have to abandon all the positions they may have selected in the interior, and are forced to retreat. The most desperate would become their situation, in case the Allies should decide on taking Odessa. Miolagew Oberson, then the lines of Perekop, would no longer be of any avail to the Russians. Which of these alternatives the Allies will decide upon, I, of course, cannot anticipate. It is also due to own, that the choice may much depend on local and topographical circumstances; roads, water, transports, &c. I, therefore, do not pretend to augur more than so much, that for some months yet the Crimean campaign is likely to go on.

In the meanwhile, Austria will do all in her power either to bring about a conciliation, or to induce the Allied Powers to give to the war after the Crimean campaign a sham character, which would not endanger the strength of Russia, upon which she looks as upon the last anchor of her hope in case of need. I do not think a conciliation now possible; but the second fact, I fear, is only too probable. Then we may yet live to see the great war reduced to a war by blockade. There appeared some weeks ago semi-official insinuations in the French papers, indicating the possibility of such an emergency. Such a turn of events would have a bearing across the Atlantic, I imagine. It recalls to my recollection the idea of "the armed neutrality," and I really can't help thinking that the world may not yet have heard the last word of Uncle Sam about "free ships, free goods." Every moment it becomes more and more urgent for the United States to come to a settled opinion, or rather determination on that subject.

Your readers will have been surprised by the hostile demonstrations against King BOMBA of Naples. You may now understand how it came to pass that Lord JOHN RUSSELL and Lord PALMERSTON were brought to gratify the world with an episode on Italy, before the recess of Parliament. Some say they really mean Murat for Naples and Sicily for Piedmont. May be. You must excuse me for not going a-fowling with a drum on that field. There may be some who think deliberation at Paris and assent at St. James are one thing; decision in heaven is another thing. Some may sow, some may reap. But, let us pray for movement, at all events; the force of events and the energy of those whom the matter concerns, will take care of the rest.

KOSSUTH.

Governor Price.

In regard to a paragraph in a recent number of the TIMES, concerning the suit commenced by the United States Government against Gov. PRICE, of New-Jersey, for defalcation in his accounts as Paymaster of the Navy, a correspondent sends us the following:

"It is well known that under the General Government every disbursing officer is charged with all moneys placed in his hands until proper vouchers are returned to the Treasury Department. In the case of Governor PRICE, vouchers for a large sum were destroyed by fire in the burning of a steamer on the Alabama River, where the passengers lost all of their baggage and barely escaped with their lives.

In all such cases resort is had to Congress for a bill of relief, but in this case the Governor preferred to have the matter tested in the United States Court, as other things were involved which could only be settled in that Court."

American Institute Fair.

Preparations are going on at the Crystal Palace for the Annual Fair of the American Institute. The reception of articles began yesterday. The Exhibition will open on Wednesday next. The position of the articles remaining in the Palace from the old display is little altered. The big tree occupies the space under the dome, and the Genius of America is still standing beneath the shadow. The pavilion-like dining-hall arranged in the north nave by the Book Publishers will be presently demolished, to give place to agricultural machines. The old refreshment-rooms in the wings will probably be open during the continuance of the Fair. The period allotted is from three to four weeks.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

By Telegraph to the New-York Daily Times.

MINERAL WEALTH OF NEW-MEXICO.

GOLD AND SILVER MINES.

Effect of the Foreign News at Washington.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Sept. 30.

The reports of extraordinary mineral wealth in the region adjoining the Gadsden trust, published in the TIMES some days since, excited several field of interest and importance. I learn from a gentleman, well known for the extent and accuracy of his acquaintance with Mexican affairs, that an engineer in the Government service recently made a careful survey of the Northern Provinces, with a view to the development of their mining capabilities. The result of his labors was to convince him that in silver it was inferior to no other portions of Mexico, and that in the richness of its gold deposits it was the equal of California. Indian hostilities, the want of capital, the indolence and inefficiency of its native inhabitants, and the general insecurity and instability of society, had presented obstacles to the working of the mines, which accounted for their having been neglected for ages. This report was ordered to be printed for the use of the Government, but was taken out of the hands of the printer by command of SANTA ANA, and was filed in the manuscript archives of the Government. The knowledge of this transaction is brought to the United States by one of the printers, a foreigner, who had seen the manuscript, and was subsequently proscribed and exiled. The motive for the suppression of the work was the inexpediency of making known to the American Filibusters the riches and the defenceless condition of the country most subject to their marauding incursions.

The Administration defeat in the Crimea excites profound regret in official circles. The President received it at Harrisburgh, and has hastened back to consult with his advisers upon so unexpected a change in our European relations. I do not lend credence to the absurd and random speculations which ascribe to the President a project of forming an alliance with Russia and Austria for the reduction of the power of the Allies and the abolition of the Danish Sound Dues; but the open sympathy of our Government with Russia throughout the present war certainly warrants the impression that Gen. PIERCE would gladly avail himself of any opportunity to favor the policy of that Power without involving the United States in war with France and England. The fall of Sebastopol is a serious blow to the political prestige of the Administration and of the Democratic party, which are alike imbued with an unaccountable Philo-Russianism. It cannot but be observed that while few persons or presses in the United States express any decided feeling on that great event, the disaster of the Allies on the 18th of June, which appeared to establish the impregnability of the place, called forth a very general shout of exultation from the organs of the Government, particularly those most noted for their championship of its Southern policy. Had the catastrophe befallen the other side, the skies would have been rent with plaudits of Russian valor and with cries of vae victis towards their enemies.

It is not an irrational conjecture that the plans of the Administration contemplated the concurrence of Russian schemes for the coercion of Denmark, and an circumstances rendered an alliance between the Government of the latter country and the great naval Powers not improbable, the course of diplomacy would naturally have brought us into opposition with their views. Under these circumstances, a necessity has arisen for requesting Mr. BUCHANAN to postpone his departure from London. This, I presume, has been done, since I was reinformed, upon sufficient authority, about the 1st of this month, that the first business which the President proposed to dispatch after his return from the Virginia Springs, would be the appointment of a Minister to London. The successor of Mr. BUCHANAN has not been named, from which the inference is warranted that he will not leave on the 6th October, and that in fact he will remain until such time as his political interests will imperatively require his return, in order to be in correspondence with the Cincinnati Convention.

Hon. Col. THOMAS H. SEYMOUR, Minister to Russia, is a gentleman of talent and popularity, but he has no diplomatic experience. In view of his inexperience, of the uncertainty which attaches to Mr. BUCHANAN's intentions, and of the immobility from illness of Mr. MASON, at Paris, it is my impression that a fleeting commission will be instituted to proceed to Europe with instructions to visit the several capitals, and by conference with our resident Ministers, bring about that unity of purpose and action between them which our present relations require. It is suggested that A. DUNLEY MANN, Esq., late Secretary of State, who has on other occasions discharged secret services of great importance to the Government, will head this Commission.

From Washington—Promotions in the Navy—Illness of the President—Condition of the Treasury, &c.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Sept. 29.

Capt. J. K. WARD is ordered to the command of the Jamestown, and WM. SMITH takes charge of the Levant.

Among the recent promotions in the navy are those of Commanders INGRAHAM and HOLLINS, to be Captains, and Lieutenant HARTSTENE to be Commander.

The President is still afflicted with chills every third day, but, notwithstanding, constantly attends to business.

There are now in the Treasury nearly twenty-two millions subject to draft, of which six millions seven thousand are deposited in New-York, one hundred and fifteen thousand in Philadelphia, one hundred and fourteen thousand in Baltimore, and three and a third millions in Boston.

The whole number of applications made for bounty land, under the law of last March, have been upwards of 217,000, and the number of warrants issued 34,200. During last month nearly 11,000 were issued.

Later from Salt Lake.

ST. LOUIS, Saturday, Sept. 29.

The mail from Salt Lake arrived at Westport yesterday, bringing one month's later intelligence.

The train met General HARNEY twenty miles this side of Fort Laramie, and the health of the troops was good.

Lieut. HEATH was killed at the battle of Ash Hollow.

The Indians fell in with a party of emigrants between Ash Hollow and Fort Laramie, and after shaking hands with them in a friendly manner, began shooting at them, wounding badly one of their number.

Loss of the Ship Faneuil Hall.

BOSTON, Saturday, Sept. 29.

The ship Faneuil Hall, of Boston, from Baltimore for Calcutta, in ballast, was wrecked in July, on Abrolhos Bank, about 23 miles from Bahia. The crew were all saved. The vessel proved a total loss, and was sold as she laid for 2,800 milreis.

GREAT TRIUMPHS!
AND
UNPARALLELED SUCCESS
OF
KROEBER'S FEVER AND AGUE CURE; OR, ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.
Equally certain as a preventive or cure!
Only actually free from poisonous drugs!
Proofs!
NEW-YORK, Monday, June 11, 1855.
I have made a chemical examination of "Kroeber's Fever and Ague Cure," or, "Antidote to Malaria," and have noted its ingredients, quantity, quality, and proportions. I have not found a particle of either in it; and have I found any substance in its composition that would prove injurious to the constitution.
JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D., Chemist.
LETTER FROM A PHYSICIAN.
MAXWELL, Delaware County, O., Aug. 18, 1855.
Mr. J. A. KROEBER—Dear Sir: Your medicine has met with the most favorable success in this neighborhood. I have about five bottles left. I gave it to those of them who no cure no pay," although I cannot conscientiously do so, but I take the responsibility on myself. Not one bottle has come back, and as I am almost out of the article, I wish you would forward me one piece of the bottles, if you see proper to do so, and I will be prompt in remitting. I inclose fifteen dollars on the medicine I have received, for which please send me a receipt. Ship the Cure to me as soon as you can—there never has been so much Chill and Fever since I lived in this State, or at present.
Yours, &c., RICHARD MARTIN, D. M.
CONSTANTINE, Mich., Monday, Sept. 24, 1855.
JAMES A. KROEBER, Esq.—Dear Sir: I have just sent an order to Amos & Holliday for another half gross of your Fever and Ague Cure. It has sold like hot cakes, and I have only two bottles on hand. One cannot be here until it becomes where I have heard of your medicine. Still more, I have sent a bottle and told them to try it, and if it did not help them they were not obliged to pay for it, and they were all satisfied. I had one case of Chill Fever where it was four-fold, but the man came to me the third day well satisfied. Truly yours, JOHN F. CLARKSON.
MARSHALL, Mich., Monday, Sept. 24, 1855.
MR. JAMES A. KROEBER—Dear Sir: The bill of "Ague Cure" you sent us has all been sold, and created a large demand for more—to meet which, we have ordered from your general agent at Chicago, J. S. Ferguson. He only will only be supplied by the agencies of Kroeber and Ferguson—looking Cures cures may be done, and between a bottle of that Cure for every case. We remain,
Respectfully yours, &c., RICHARDS & ALLEN.
I. O. O. F.—In another column of to-day's paper will be found an advertisement for "Kroeber's Fever and Ague Cure." We can not in the hurry of publication, say more than to say, for the benefit of the afflicted, that Mr. J. Brown, merchant, this village, who has it for sale, informs us that he has sold several dozen bottles, and in every case it has effected a cure. This proves the medicine to be good, and we take pleasure in bringing it before the notice of the public.—Odd Fellow, Rensselaer, Ind., Sept. 4.
For sale by GEORGE R. BAKER, C. H. BRIGGS, BARNES & PARK, T. C. WILLS & CO., C. V. CLARKE, EBER & CO., and all druggists.

MEDICAL.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—DR. KENNEDY, of Rochester, discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures every kind of humor, from the worst scrofula down to a pimple.

He has tried it in over 1,200 cases, and never failed, except in two cases, both thunder humor. He has now in his possession over 100 certificates of its virtue, all within 20 miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Two to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eye.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the eyes and blood shotten eyes.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Tetter.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of ringworm.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

The benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, if neither over nor cured by hundreds of this in the vicinity of Boston, I leave the effects of it in every case, to stand or falter with authenticity for, or curse all this cure humbug. Never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; it is a vast good, it never speaks for itself. There are two things about this medicine which are remarkable—first, that it grows in one pasture, in some places quite plentiful, and yet the value has never been known until I discovered it in 1854; second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great demand for this medicine, I will state that in April, 1854, I sold it, and sold about six bottles per day. In April, 1855, I sold over a thousand bottles per day.

No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of 6 years, dessert spoonful; children from 2 to 6 years, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of Scrofula.

SPECIAL MEDICAL NOTICE.—No 280 Houston-st., second door west of Broadway, New-York.—S. C. WORTH, Physician and Surgeon, would respectfully inform his old patrons and the public that he is re-established at this office, where he will continue his new and successful mode of treating diseases of the most malignant character. Dr. J. deems it unnecessary to speak of his professional qualifications, being long known as a graduate of the Pennsylvania University, a fellow of the State Medical Society of Massachusetts, and at one time a lecturer on the uterine diseases of the Massachusetts Hospital, Boston; also, a practitioner of this City. Ladies can consult the Doctor confidentially, or one of their own sex whose superior knowledge and experience qualifies her for the treatment of all diseases peculiar to females. Dr. JOHNSON'S Remedies, never failing, invaluable remedy for special irregularities, and other diseases to which females are so frequently liable from exposure and neglect. Patients of both sexes desiring medical or surgical aid can consult Dr. J., being assured of the most strict confidence either in person or by mail.

Office open all of the day and evening.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS.—DR. WATSON continues his practice to the cure of diseases, in which he has treated more than twenty thousand cases, without one instance of failure. The remedies are mild, and do not keep the patient from business, or expose him to detection while in most recent cases there is a cure in twenty-four hours. Dr. WATSON wishes to state that, as many have been deceived by the promises of certain charlatans, and been injured by drugs, patients are respectfully invited to call, in the first place, as there is no charge for consultation. DR. WATSON, M.D., Many years Surgeon to the Lock Hospital, Author of "The Cause and Cure;" numerous plates, $1. Office No. 59 Walker-st., near Broadway.

DR. RALPH'S PRACTICAL PRIVATE TREATISE—16th ed., 244 pp. with plates. The most plain and practical information is given on every form of these diseases—invaluable to every one it may concern, and constituting a perfect safeguard against quackery. Price $1 in advance. Address Dr. RALPH Hasson, No. 2 Vesey-st. (Astor House,) and by the Author, 7 Washington-st. Dr. RALPH is consulted especially on the more severe or chronic cases, at his Office, No. 143 Houston-st., near Wooster, between the hours of 9 to 12 A. M. and 6 to 9 P. M. Sunday excepted.

NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. JOHNSON, No. 12 Duane-st., (Chatham Park Building,) may be consulted with confidence on all diseases requiring secrecy. His long experience of 24 years in this specialty of the profession enable him to treat successfully those who may have suffered from the malpractices of medical impostors, many of which are to be found in all large cities, but particularly in the City of New-York. Dr. J. being a graduate of the New-York University, guarantees a cure in all cases undertaken. Office open from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M.

DR. HUNTER, No. 2 Division-st., New-York, as long and favorably known in the public, may be consulted in his old established office, where he has practised in one branch of medicine for the last 16 years, and made more cures than any other man in the City. In secret diseases of long or recent standing, he guarantees a cure. Strangers may rely in perfect safety on this advertisement. Charges moderate, and to all cases a cure guaranteed. Caution—Any person without trying Dr. Hunter in the first place, can only be injured by so doing. Call and get the title deed of health.

DR. CORNETT, No. 19 Dey-st., may be consulted with confidence on diseases. Twenty-three years in one specialty in the profession enables him to guarantee a speedy and permanent cure. His method for gleet is the same as that practised by the great Resort, of Paris, and all cases undertaken are treated with the greatest candor. N. B.—Dr. C. is a graduate of the New-York University. See his diploma in his office.

CONSUMPTION IS CURABLE IN A MAJORITY OF CASES.—Such invalids as may be interested are respectfully informed that a circular may be obtained by addressing Box 1, of this paper. No. 38 Beekman-st., up stairs, that will form a comprehensive note relative to the cause of consumption, even in cases that have been pronounced incurable. Consumptives, procure a circular and judge for yourselves. HARRINGTON, M.D.

MEDICAL.

WHY FEMALES SUFFER IN HEALTH.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

Professor of Diseases of Women.

One Hundredth Edition (800,000) thus, pp. 250

A treatise of established reputation, found chaste in the estimation of the great Tribunals of New-York, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, and sold by the pair.

Sent by mail to any address in the United States.

Every woman can be a discoverer, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, character and cause of her complaint, and be cured much sooner and suffering, as well as the unpleasantness of making known to, or making inquiry of, a physician in respect to the number of ailments to which she is subject. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice in respect to her situation, which she will have and. This book tells her what is the matter, and tells her what to do for it, in simple but chaste words, and such as she can understand.

Those suffering from obstructions, or irregularities peculiar to the female system, or from prolapsus uteri, (falling of the womb,) or from fluor albus, will each find in it valuable means of prevention, amelioration, and relief.

Much distress of mind, as well as thousands prematurely might be saved to every husband, if the simplest laws appertaining to the marriage state were better understood. That they are not better understood is traceable to that assumed and almost commendable sensitiveness that will rather suffer than consult or converse with even a medical man in respect to complaints peculiar to the females only.

In a copy of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," every female has a physician that knows and describes her every symptom, feeling and ailment, and which she can consult at all times without violence to her sensitiveness.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Dayton, Ohio.

DAYTON, May 1, 1847.

Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU—My Dear Sir: My wife has been perpetually ailing for some three years or more in consequence of great anguish and suffering some months before she died during confinement; every successive one more and more debilitated and prostrated her, quiting her life in imminent danger and which was on the last occasion despaired of. I supposed that she must inevitably sink under it, and resigned myself to meet the worst. I heard your name highly spoken of, as containing some matters reaching my case. On its receipt and perusal I cannot express to you the relief it afforded my distressed mind, and they if its pages imparted to my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Mauriceau provided a remedy for her complaint, the knowledge which I little conceived was possible. Sat for this, she another year would have passed over my head, in all human probability my wife would have been in her grave and my children left motherless.

TRISEMAR—THE GREAT EUROPEAN DISCOVERY—Protected by Royal Letters Patent of England, and secured by the seals of the Ecole de Pharmacie and the Imperial Colleges of Medicine, Paris.

TRISEMAR No. 1 is the only remedy for nervous and local debility, loss of virile power, premature decay, and all the distressing consequences arising from early abuse, &c. It effects new efficiency in youth, manhood and old age; the virile powers would not become impaired, even in the decline of life, if the Trisemar were universally adopted; all physical impediments vanish like a magic influence in infancy, thus rendering its use inevitable to those entering the married state.

TRISEMAR No. 2—Completely and entirely eradicates all traces of these disorders which experience and exposure so long been thought an antidote for, to the ruin of the health of a large portion of the population.

TRISEMAR No. 3 is the great European remedy for that class of disorders which unfortunately the English Physicians have made their peculiar study, to the ruin of the patient's constitution, and which all the charlatans in the world cannot remove.

TRISEMAR No. 1, 2 and 3, are alike devoid of taste or smell, and all nauseating qualities. They may lay on the table with without their use being detected.

Sold in the dose at $3 each; dissolved in a separate dose, as administered by Velpeau, Lallemand, Ricord, &c.

To be had wholesale and retail of Mr. H. A. BARROW, No. 21 Greene-st., near Canal, New-York, specially appointed by the Proprietor and Patentee as Agent for the United States, and every other part of America. Immediately on receiving a remittance Mr. Barrow will forward the Trisemar to any part of the world, securely packed, and addressed according to the instructions of the writer.

Retail Agents required. Terms cash.

NEW-YORK CITY.

THE SEASONS.

A Period of the Government.

The Institution Feast of Tabernacles commenced last Saturday. The Levitical law requires its continuance for seven days. During the whole of this period, the Israelitish People of the City have thronged their synagogues. The services have continued without interruption. "Seven days ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord.....and ye shall do no servile work therein. These are the feasts of the Lord, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations."

The commencement of these joyful Festivals of the Hebrews brings to mind the Degree of gentlemanly and worthy Masonry. People adhere to their belief in the Institutions of the Synagogue quite filled with devotion; the ceremonies proper to the occasion are punctually observed; the fairest of the Israelitish females are personal attendants in the galleries, and silvery voices bring out the praises of the Almighty.

To a stranger to the ceremonies, the Reader's chant is an impressive performance. Occasionally, the loft and continual hum is changed to a lively and melodious tune. The congregation usually join in these periods of the service, and the other of the song of Gladness, when the entire audience takes part in its execution, is remarkably fine. The young children, sitting beside their parents, are permitted to lift up their voices. In fashion, time and general effect, these standard pieces shine superior.

The Reader of the Synagogue, wrapped in gown and tallith, stands in his desk during the whole of this Feast, turning from book to book as the services proceed. Occasionally, seated generally upon a low form, behind the desk, is a young lad, who sings solo. Two more slightly, tone and tenor, assist. These three persons furnish the chorus to the priest's solo. It is an hour spent with the Jews Synagogue, there is an Organ to lead the musical portion; this, however, is to be considered in the light of an innovation, rather than the rule.

In a previous church (Sept. 23) specimens of the phraseology employed in the Hebrew Prayers were on display. The supplicatory prayer to the Feast of the Tabernacles form a distinct class. The following are taken literally from the Hebrew:

"The wicked run as lightning, as water spurted out of a hole; they minister in their turn, they hasten each other, and they are injured.

May they who bear the tender plant be settended with joy on the Feast of Tabernacles.

Blessed art thou, O Lord, our God! King of the Universe, Creator of the radiance of the fire."

A martial hymn reads thus:—

"Do unto Lord! who the empire swayed,
Ere creation's first work thou first form was framed,
When by his will Divine all things were made,
Then—King! Almighty! was his name proclaimed.
When all shall cease, and this world's system o'er,
Terrible Only alone will reign."

The following is peculiar:—

"Blessed art thou, O Lord, our God! King of the Universe, who hath not made me a woman."

The women say:—

"Blessed art thou, O Lord, our God! King of the Universe, who hath made me according to his will."

Dorsey Psalm of Praise follows.

An enraptured reads:—

"He called the Sun, and it rose in resplendent light:
He bade the Moon command its varying form. The whole heavenly host, shouting praise unto him; the Seraphim, Ophanim, and Holy Angels, sing the glory and majesty."

"The Leader of all Melodists, transcendent in praise,"

When the Ark is opened, the congregation say:

"And when the Ark was set forth, Moses said, 'Arise, O Lord! and scatter thine enemies; cause them that hate Thee to flee before Thee. For from Zion shall the Law go forth, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem."

The manuscripts of the Pentateuch are then taken out of the Ark. One is placed on the reading desk, and the Rabbis addresses portions to one or more persons who present themselves for the purpose.

The use of pens belonging to the original service, is also retained:

"I will wave the Mantling branches as they grow, to praise Him who is tremendous, that with them I may [illegible] prayer; that, however, it be considered
[illegible] to the Supreme, as prayer to be taken on the First Day."

A petition uttered toward the close of the ceremonies
[illegible] this occasion:

"Verily the passage of tabernacles attends other prayer, as in its offering, are several precepts of the law enforced. This day was declared to be accounted the first, although it is the fifteenth, yet it was named the day to rejoicing; with the good tidings that our former sins were forgiven. It is called a memorial of the end of the year, and it is the beginning of the year; on this is good, impels on it the rain (Heb. dregs) of the year. The branches of the ethek trees are covered without ceasing to show them to prepare their heart!" [meaning they should not act hypocritically.]

The Festival season is now about to conclude.
